Things We Cannot Change

At the time of writing it is early May. I have heard the cuckoo so the natural world is telling me that spring is here... it is May... the roses in the garden have begun to blossom... so my expectation is that it will be warm and sunny with a fresh breeze! And is it? No. It is dull and grey and deceptively cold outside. (I feel a bit cheated! – no doubt the warmer weather is just around the corner and hopefully by the time this article is distributed we will be blessed with glorious weather to delight in.)

The thing is – there are things in life we simply cannot change. We may have hopes and expectations of something or someone, yet the truth is, that we are not in control of the world around us or other people. This can hit us hard sometimes. It can be disorientating, frustrating, and scary.

Throughout our bibles we come across individuals and groups of people undergoing change – the Israelites moving home from Egypt towards the promised land (living in tents and very much hand-to-mouth), David from the shepherd to King, the disciples being called to change their lives and follow Jesus (as indeed we are). So with all these pertinent examples we shouldn't really be surprised that life holds change – physically, emotionally and spiritually. One constant remains throughout however – God. He was there at the beginning, is here now, and will be forever. An anchor to ground us, a light to guide us. The one dependable entity in this world. And thankfully he is a God over all. He has a plan. He sees the beginning and the end in a way we never can. So no matter what we might be struggling with or things beyond our control we can look to God and his Word to ground us in what is important and the end to which we move.

Rector's Report to the APCM in summary

The Rector highlighted particular events to celebrate in the last year:

- ❖ The God's Acre Team won Gold in the Dorset Wildlife Trust competition and came first in the Wimborne in Bloom 'Best Churchyard' category;
- ❖ The Minster Bellringers have won two categories of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild Competition, and recruited new young ringers from Allenbourn School;
- ❖ 'Experience Easter' has been another great success, and Open the Book continues to bring gospel stories to younger audiences in the town – working in collaboration with St John's, Wimborne and St Michael's, Colehill;
- ❖ The Mothers' Union marked their 140th Anniversary with a celebration weekend in August last year;
- ❖ Six people were confirmed, two others renewed their baptism vows and a further two children were admitted to Holy Communion;
- ❖ The Revd Bill French was licensed to Wimborne Minster and the Northern Villages and six people were commissioned as Lay Worship Leaders in the benefice;
- ❖ Our new and long-running home groups continue to provide a focus for teaching, prayer and pastoral care;
- ❖ The Greenbelt Group, Minster Environment Group and Fair Trade reps (amongst others) help us to keep both our national and global vision alive;
- ❖ A significant number of staff and volunteers have been trained to be Dementia Friends and the Minster has been awarded Dementia Friendly status;
- ❖ The Stewardship Renewal last autumn increased our stewardship giving by some £1200 per month;
- ❖ Events overseen by the Fundraising and Events Committee (Minster Tales, the Auction of Promises, participation in the Wimborne History Festival, the Minster Fair and the St Cecilia concert) have raised several thousand pounds for Minster funds;
- ❖ Work on the fabric of the Minster has been ongoing with an emphasis on enhancing the security of the building and the works indicated in the Quinquennial Inspection.

- ❖ The Friends of Wimborne Minster have enabled projects, including a new shed for the churchyard and the refurbishment of the Minster grand piano. Thanks to their generosity, Church House will soon be supplied with new chairs, tables and curtains upstairs. Church House bookings have increased and the enhanced facilities will enable us to procure even more.

The Rector reviewed the six areas of concern she highlighted at her first APCM, five years ago.

(1) The management of the Minster is in good order. Policies and procedures are largely in place and regularly reviewed; in-service training is provided to staff and volunteers as appropriate.

(2) Our pattern of worship: consultation about the possible introduction of Breakfast Church continues. We have a responsibility to ensure that our worship is not only dignified and appropriate for our present congregations, but also accessible to those with no church background whatsoever – which is the vast majority of the general population. With decreasing clergy resources nationally, sustainability remains a concern – especially for a place like the Minster which provides a large number and variety of worship styles.

(3) Our age demographic, which is a challenge for the Church nationally. There is clear evidence that church services later on a Sunday morning are rarely supported by families. We need to be more effective in connecting with younger families in other ways and times.

(4) Deepening faith and nurturing our spiritual life is the heart of Christian discipleship, and has been encouraged through teaching, courses, sermon series and study groups, and through the 2016 focus on the Minster's prayer life. In the autumn there will be a study series on the Letter to the Philippians.

(5) The Minster building is in good shape and is well-used by outside bodies. We are still challenged in practical terms by lack of storage, and the relative inflexibility of the space. The Heritage Lottery Fund is keen to work with us to enable the Minster to become an even greater focus for the wider community and for educational developments. As a preparatory project, we are seeking HLF funding for a non-invasive archaeological survey of the Minster and its precincts in collaboration with Bournemouth University.

(6) Communication: the Minster website is almost ready to be relaunched as a joint website for the Minster and the Northern Villages; and our social media capacity has been increased with Twitter and Facebook accounts.

The Minster continues to face financial challenges, as a parish church with responsibilities to the Diocese, and a centre for pilgrimage, heritage and tourism. With respect to the benefice, it now seems likely that the Northern Villages may become a single parish with the Minster remaining as a single parish – both within the new benefice – rather than all the churches coming under a single umbrella PCC.

The Rector thanked in particular:

- the Revd Belinda Marflitt for her contribution to our common life and mission, especially through her pastoral care and ministry with children;
- the relief vergers, particularly during Ashley's sick leave;
- Anne Pollard, for her service on the Deanery Synod and the Minster PCC for about thirty years, and her role as lead Lay Pastoral Assistant;
- Wardens and Deputy Wardens, and in particular Colin Feltham, who is stepping down as Chair of Fabric and as a Deputy Warden.

We give thanks to God the Father for all that has been good and 'of God' in the past year. In that hope and confidence, we move forward together, and as the former Secretary-General of the United Nations, Dag Hammarskjöld once said, we say:

"For all that has been, thanks. For all that will be, yes."

– Vanessa Herrick
Rector

Brief informal notes from the PCC meeting, May 16th

Anne King is now the parish representative for the Bible Society.

A Fairtrade representative is needed to work with the town's Fairtrade group.

The subcommittees of the PCC have been re-arranged, so that there is a single committee for Tourism and Heritage (including the group working with the Heritage Lottery Fund), and a single committee for Education, which will cover work with children and young people, house groups, Aspects of Spirituality and other talks, and schools' contact. This will be chaired by Tricia Knott.

Andrew Patrick and Mike Dodds are to do the training for lay worship leaders.

Let nothing make thee sad or fretful...

For the Friends Festal Evensong, the Choir is learning a new anthem, Geistliches Lied, by Brahms. The piece has a multiple resonance, from the contexts in which the words and music were composed.

Lass dich nur nichts nicht dauren
Mit trauren;
Sei stille,
Wie Gott es fügt,
So sei vergnügt
Mein Wille.

*Let nothing make thee sad or fretful,
Or too regretful;
Be still;
What God hath ordered must be right;
Then find in it thine own delight,
My will.*

---

Was willst du heute sorgen
Auf morgen?
Der Eine
Steht allem für;
Der gibt auch dir
Das Deine.

*Why shouldst thou fill to-day with sorrow
About to-morrow,
My heart?
One watches all with care most true;
Doubt not that he will give thee too
Thy part.*

---

Sei nur in allem Handel
Ohn' Wandel,
Steh feste;
Was Gott beschleusst,
Das ist und heisst
Das Beste. Amen.

*Only be steadfast; never waver,
Nor seek earth's favour,
But rest:
Thou knowest what God wills must be
For all his creatures, so for thee,
The best.*

The lyric poet Paul Fleming (1609-1640) wrote in response to nature, and to express his strong Evangelical faith in a time when most of northern Europe was caught up in the prolonged devastation of the Thirty Years' War. He spent 6 years in an embassy to Moscow and Persia, which undermined his health, and he died shortly after returning home.

Geistliches Lied (Op.30) was composed by Brahms in 1856, when he was 23. This was the year when his close friend Robert Schuman died in a mental asylum; Brahms had been visiting him there for two years.

The English translation above is by Catherine Winkworth (1827-78), who translated many German hymns and religious poems.

You may have noticed kites around the Town, and even in the Minster during Dementia Awareness Week recently. The kite is said to conjure up pleasant memories of the past, and bring a smile to the face. Our Sunday School certainly thought so a couple of weeks ago and many local families enjoyed the kite-making workshop at the Library. You can see the results in some local shop windows.

You may also have noticed a framed certificate as you enter the Minster. This recognises that we are officially a “Dementia Friendly Church” – a tribute to our Clergy, Staff and volunteers. And all of you!

The Wimborne Dementia Friendly Community was delighted to receive a generous cheque from Cllr Sue Cook as she completed her year as Town Mayor recently. We have been one of her charities, and this welcome donation will help us to fund our current activities as well as our next project, of which more later – it’s very “state of the art”

Lastly, on the subject of art, Arts4Dementia are currently staging their Reawakening Festival all over Dorset and will be presenting their illustrated talk Saints, Angels, Gargoyles and Green Men in the Minster at 2.00pm on Thursday 1st June. All are welcome. – Steve Burrows

I Did It! Peru 2017

The challenge started at Heathrow, trying to find the rest of my travelling companions, and then travelling for 16 hours to Cusco via Bogota and Lima. We arrived at our hotel in the afternoon of April 8th where we met our Canadian friends who had arrived two days earlier to trek with us. Cusco is 3,350m above sea level so we went out into the city to get used to the altitude and visit the local markets.

That was certainly an eye-opener for someone working in Public Health! Dinner that evening was in a local restaurant where we were able to sample lots of traditional foods - except guinea pig - and watch traditional Peruvian dancing with music. The meal ended with the owner presenting me with a cake - quickly shared out and devoured - as it was my 50th birthday.

The next morning, we caught a bus up into the hills above Cusco for a three-hour acclimatisation walk back down into the city. We walked, in part, along the Inca trail that lead from the jungle, with the walls on either side of the trail to ensure the ancient travellers were not distracted and focused on the majestic city in front of them.

At 6.30 the next morning we took a three-hour bus ride through the Sacred valley and to the Lares Valley where our trek would begin in earnest, a route little used by tourists. The bus took us up to 4,300m through the mountains, along roads little wider than the bus with sheer drops to the side. At one point we were held up by a lady herding her unruly alpacas along the road. We stopped off in Lares marketplace where the local people in their traditional clothing were a blinding array of colour, and their different coloured and styled hats denoted which valley they came from. We visited the local hot springs and, after lunch, we began our trek. We set off over the bridge straight into a steep 500m climb which we conquered in about 20 minutes before it flattened out a bit. The views were spectacular as we followed the river and walked through the odd concentration of small, dark dwellings where children with big, brown eyes and wind-burnt cheeks greeted us. As we struggled with the altitude, our guide advised us that "If you can't breathe, you're going too fast" although I felt it was more a case of "if you can't breathe, you're going to die!" We were told to take small steps and walk very slowly, which goes against the normal instinct of keeping up with the pack. Once I had accepted this, I could admire the views as I walked and not spend all the time looking at my feet. After 4 ½ hours, 12km and to a height of 3,850m, we reached our campsite at Cuncani. We had cups of tea, and biscuits covered in peanut butter to keep our calorie intake up. At that point I realised I was not going to lose any weight on this trip! The tents had already been pitched, facing the mountain we had to climb the following day. That night, the rain on the canvas meant sleep was difficult and the thought of what lay in front of us was daunting.

Our early Tuesday morning call came at 6am to get ready for breakfast and leave camp at 7am. It was a tough climb in the mist and rain but we got to the top in just under 3 hours although two of the group needed to be treated with oxygen, a third had to use a mule and I had a "wobble" with sheer frustration and self-doubt as to whether I had taken on too much. At the top was supposed to be a fantastic view of the lake but it was shrouded in mist and freezing cold. A couple of peasants brightened the scenery with their clothes and hats, selling souvenirs from their blankets. I bought some items to acknowledge their efforts in sitting in the foul weather for the sake of a few Sol. We continued down the mountain to our lunch tent by another lake, then on to our next campsite at Huacahuasi. We had to cross several rivers and slippery rocks; bridges were branches stuck together with mud or flimsy planks. On several occasions, we had to move rocks to create stepping stones, or scramble down steep drops and I fell over a couple of times, fortunately without serious injury. We came through the pass at 4,600m before eventually reaching camp by the River Huacahuasi. We had walked for about 7 ½ hours and were exhausted. During that night the local stray dogs were fighting and I was too scared to leave the tent to use the very basic facilities so it was another long night.

News from the Belfry

On Saturday 13th May, Wimborne Minster was the host for the Salisbury Diocesan Guild of Ringers Annual Festival, the first time since 1976 that it had been held in our town. Over a hundred ringers from across the Diocese spent the morning ringing at towers en route to Wimborne before converging in the town at lunchtime for an extended ring on the Minster bells. The Festival Service in the afternoon was conducted by the Rector, with Bishop Karen preaching on the history and relevance of bells in the church and its mission. A choir made up of ringers from the East Dorset Branch led the singing and sang Howard Goodall's setting of Psalm 23 as an anthem, and Ben Duke (Branch Chairman) and Judith Williamson (Guild Master) read the lessons. After the prayers, 112 changes of Plain Bob Major were rung on handbells by four members of the Minster band, Trish Hitchins, Kathy Bentley, David Warwick and Alan Bentley. The Guild AGM followed at Queen Elizabeth's School, and the day was rounded off with a magnificent supper of salmon, quiche, cold meats, salad and desserts mostly provided by the local ringers.

The Salisbury Guild has also been celebrating a second success in the Tewkesbury Shield, a national ringing competition on ten bells. 2016 had been the first time in the Guild's history that the trophy had made its way to Wiltshire and Dorset, and a squad made up of ringers from Dorchester, Hampreston, Preston and Wimborne had been practising since November to make sure it did not slip easily from our grasp. In 2017 we were especially pleased to have beaten mighty teams from Birmingham and Derby amongst the other eight bands from across the country. From Wimborne, Trish Hitchins, Hilary Child, Flick Warwick, Ben Duke and David Warwick were in the final team, and Rosemary Duke, Harry Blamire and Rob Child were reserves.
