

WIMBORNE MINSTER
READINGS AND PRAYERS FOR THE SIXTH SUNDAY OF EASTER
17 MAY 2020

Collect:

God our redeemer,
you have delivered us from the power of darkness and brought us into the kingdom of your Son:
grant, that as by his death he has recalled us to life, so by his continual presence in us he may raise us to eternal joy; through Jesus Christ your Son our Lord. Amen

Acts 17: 22 – 31

Paul stood in front of the Areopagus and said, 'Athenians, I see how extremely religious you are in every way. For as I went through the city and looked carefully at the objects of your worship, I found among them an altar with the inscription, "To an unknown god." What therefore you worship as unknown, this I proclaim to you. The God who made the world and everything in it, he who is Lord of heaven and earth, does not live in shrines made by human hands, nor is he served by human hands, as though he needed anything, since he himself gives to all mortals life and breath and all things. From one ancestor he made all nations to inhabit the whole earth, and he allotted the times of their existence and the boundaries of the places where they would live, so that they would search for God and perhaps grope for him and find him - though indeed he is not far from each one of us. For "In him we live and move and have our being"; as even some of your own poets have said, "For we too are his offspring."

Since we are God's offspring, we ought not to think that the deity is like gold, or silver, or stone, an image formed by the art and imagination of mortals. While God has overlooked the times of human ignorance, now he commands all people everywhere to repent, because he has fixed a day on which he will have the world judged in righteousness by a man whom he has appointed, and of this he has given assurance to all by raising him from the dead.' (NRSV)

1 Peter 3: 13 - 22

Who will harm you if you are eager to do what is good? But even if you do suffer for doing what is right, you are blessed. Do not fear what they fear, and do not be intimidated, but in your hearts sanctify Christ as Lord. Always be ready to make your defence to anyone who demands from you an account of the hope that is in you; yet do it with gentleness and reverence. Keep your conscience clear, so that, when you are maligned, those who abuse you for your good conduct in Christ may be put to shame. For it is better to suffer for doing good, if suffering should be God's will, than to suffer for doing evil. For Christ also suffered for sins once for all, the righteous for the unrighteous, in order to bring you to God. He was put to death in the flesh, but made alive in the spirit, in which also he went and made a proclamation to the spirits in prison, who in former times did not obey, when God waited patiently in the days of Noah, during the building of the ark, in which a few, that is, eight persons, were saved through water. And baptism, which this prefigured, now saves you - not as a removal of dirt from the body, but as an appeal to God for a good conscience, through the resurrection of Jesus Christ, who has gone into heaven and is at the right hand of God, with angels, authorities, and powers made subject to him. (NRSV)

John 14: 15 - 21

Jesus said to his disciples: 'If you love me, you will keep my commandments. And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Advocate, to be with you for ever. This is the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor knows him. You know him, because he abides with you, and he will be in you. I will not leave you orphaned; I am coming to you. In a little while the world will no longer see me, but you will see me; because I live, you also will live. On that day you will know that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you. They who have my commandments and keep them are those who love me; and those who love me will be loved by my Father, and I will love them and reveal myself to them.' (NRSV)

Prayers (provided by Sue Hatherley)

Loving Father, help us to still our wandering thoughts, to be ready to accept your gift of the Holy Spirit which gives our lives meaning and purpose in these difficult times.

Lord in your mercy - hear our prayer.

We give thanks for the many people who, day and night, maintain our essential services, and for everyone whose work is in health, healing and social care as they cope with the huge demands the pandemic has brought. Teach us to continue to value them all even as we start to pick up the threads of life again.

Lord in your mercy - hear our prayer

We pray that the wonderful spirit of community and co-operation which has emerged across villages, towns and cities during the lockdown may be extended globally as we search for ways to defeat the Coronavirus. We pray that scientific research with its powerful worldwide networks can cut across political agendas.

Lord in your mercy - hear our prayer

Loving Father, we bring before you all those affected by this illness; the sick, the suffering, the bereaved, the lonely, the fearful. Grant to all those bearing pain, your spirit of peace, healing and hope.

Lord in your mercy - hear our prayer

The clear, silent skies and the quiet roads have given us a greater appreciation of a more natural world. With good weather and for some - time to enjoy even a small space, we can see God everywhere; in green and growing things, birdsong, the movement of clouds. Give us courage to share this connection with others. Give us courage too, as we have seen the obvious benefit of lockdown to wildlife and the climate, to use this knowledge as an opportunity to address the climate crisis.

Lord in your mercy - hear our prayer.

Although we cannot be together physically; - 'Together met, together bound by all that God has done, we'll go with joy to give the world the love that makes us one. Amen

Merciful Father, accept these prayers for the sake of Jesus Christ our Lord.

Closing Prayer

God our Father,

whose Son Jesus Christ gives the water of eternal life: may we thirst for you,
the spring of life and source of goodness, through him who is alive and reigns, now and for ever.
Amen
